

TENNESSEE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FISCAL REVIEW COMMITTEE

FISCAL NOTE

SB 1488

January 16, 2014

SUMMARY OF BILL: Reduces from more than 100 miles to more than 50 miles the distance from the marital home that children cannot be relocated without the permission of the other party or a court order in divorce and legal separation cases. Expands the rights granted to each parent during periods when the child is not in that parent's possession to be included in an order arising from an action for divorce or annulment. Requires the notarized signature of the party or parties submitting the parenting plan. Expands and rewrites the relevant factors the court must consider when determining custody of a minor child in annulment, separation, and divorce suits. The court must consider these factors in child custody, parental relocation, and permanent parenting plan determinations.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

NOT SIGNIFICANT

Assumptions:

- The proposed legislation makes various changes to factors the court must use in determining child custody arrangements in divorce, annulment, and legal separation cases.
- Any fiscal impact resulting from the proposed changes will be incurred by private parties.
- There will not be a significant impact to the caseloads or the work necessary to finalize these cases by the state or local court systems.
- Any fiscal impact to state and local government is estimated to be not significant and can be accommodated within existing resources.

CERTIFICATION:

The information contained herein is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
